

Objection-handling sheet

AI Systems Architect Accelerator — Founding Cohort. For admissions calls and DMs. Lead with the answer, then the proof.

💡 "Is it worth $149 a month?"

Your membership is not a course fee. For one monthly price you get all four intensives, Anthropic Architect certification prep, a full-time internship experience, and guided portfolio projects — everything in one membership, no separate course fees.

Compare it to a single bootcamp tuition or one consulting invoice. This is the same skill set, billed monthly, with no per-course charges.

⚠️ "Are there other costs I should know about?"

Yes, and we say so upfront. Beyond the Colaberry membership, you cover your own Anthropic subscription for Claude Code (about $20/mo) and your LLM API usage on your own key (most projects under $10/mo). Those are paid directly to the providers, not to Colaberry.

It is a small, real, usage-based cost, and it is the point: you build and deploy on live tools and keys you keep after the program.

🕒 "I don't have time — I work full-time."

The live commitment is four hours a week: Monday Architecture Day (2 hrs) and Thursday Build Day (2 hrs). It's built for working professionals.

You're not doing homework for a grade — you're building your own project, so the hours go straight into something you keep.

🎓 "I'm not an engineer — can I keep up?"

It's designed for career changers and working professionals. You need to be comfortable with basic software concepts (git, the command line) and bring a business problem to solve. No professional engineering background required.

⚡ "Why enroll now? Why the Founding Cohort?"

The Founding Cohort is capped at 40 seats, and founding members lock the $149/mo founding rate for as long as their membership stays active — even as the price rises for later cohorts.

The free Open House is Thursday, July 16, and the Founding Cohort kicks off Thursday, July 23, 2026. Once 40 seats are taken, the founding rate is gone.

🏆 "Is the certification real / recognized?"

You prepare for the Anthropic Architect certification — the company behind Claude. The principle we hold to: Anthropic certifies your knowledge; Colaberry certifies your capability through a real, deployed project and a GitHub portfolio.

✂️ "Is this just theory, or do I build something?"

You leave with a deployed AI system, a GitHub portfolio, and a complete Solution Architecture Package — a Business Workflow Assistant, a multi-agent AI team with an Enterprise Prompt Library, and a working MCP server integrated with a real system.

🔄 "What if it's not for me — can I cancel?"

The monthly plan ($199/mo) cancels anytime — access runs through the paid month, with no partial-month refund. The annual plan locks the lower $149/mo founding rate and comes with a 14-day money-back window from kickoff (July 23); after that it is non-refundable, but your membership stays active the full year and your founding rate stays locked.

Refund terms above are proposed and pending Ali's final approval — confirm before quoting verbatim.

🔄 "I'll just learn AI on my own / from free videos."

Free content teaches you to consume AI. This teaches you to build with it — live, with feedback, on your own real problem, ending in a deployed system you can show an employer or a client. Most people never make that jump alone.

One CTA, every time: direct them to training.colaberry.com to claim a founding seat. If they need to think it over, book the next step before you hang up.
